

Customer Story

Halifax Fan: expert travel management powering global manufacturing

Industry: Manufacturing

Location: United Kingdom & Global

Client Established: 2021

“Our travel consultant has been outstanding – proactive, responsive, and well-versed in the nuances of international business travel. Whether booking flights, arranging multi-stop itineraries, or securing last-minute accommodation, Corporate Traveller has streamlined the process considerably.”

Harry Wenden,
Technical Sales Manager, Halifax Fan

Background

- Halifax Fan is recognised as one of the world's leading manufacturers of industrial centrifugal and axial fans.
- Without central oversight, time was lost managing logistics, costs were harder to track, and staff were left dealing with unexpected travel issues on their own.

Situation

- With global projects spanning Asia, Europe, and North America, their engineers and sales teams are constantly on the move
- Managing international travel was time-consuming, and coordinating bookings made consistency and cost control difficult.

Solution

- Clarity, control, and peace of mind was brought to their travel programme
- The combination of a dedicated travel consultant and the Melon platform delivered the best of both worlds: hands-on service backed by smart technology.

Success

- Time spent managing travel has reduced significantly and traveller report less stress and smoother journeys
- Greater visibility and control through the Melon dashboard

See how Corporate Traveller can simplify your business travel and help your people focus on what matters most.
